Alert Counts by Site and Risk

This table shows, for each site for which one or more alerts were raised, the number of alerts raised at each risk level.

Alerts with a confidence level of "False Positive" have been excluded from these counts.

(The numbers in brackets are the number of alerts raised for the site at or above that risk level.)

Alert description

Content Security Policy (CSP) is an added layer of security to help protect websites from XSS (Cross-Site Scripting) and data injection attacks. These attacks are used to inject malicious code into a website by using a set of standard HTTP headers that allow website owners to specify which resources are allowed to load on their page — covered types are JavaScript, CSS, HTML frame files.

Alert description	No Anti-CSRF tokens were found in a HTML submission A cross-site request forgery is an attack that involves forcing the victim to make an unwanted action on a trusted web site as the victim. The underlying cause is application functions that do not verify the user's identity before executing an action. A web site has for a user. By contrast, cross-site scripting (XSS) attacks involve forcing the victim's web browser to execute unwanted code from a trusted web site. Cross-site request forgery is also known as CSRF, XSRF

CSRF attacks are effective in a number of situations, in

- * The victim has an active session on the target site.
- * The victim is authenticated via HTTP auth on the target site.
- * The victim is on the same local network as the target site.

CSRF has primarily been used to perform an action against a user without their access to the response. The risk of information disclosure is high, allowing the attack to operate within the bounds of the target site.

Other info

No known Anti-CSRF token [anticsrf, CSRFToken, __RequestVerificationToken, __csrf_magic, CSRF, _token, _csrf_token, _csrfToken] was found.
